LAWYER CROSS IS BITTER AGAINST TEXAS FARM BUREAU

(Special to the Eagle)
Waco, Tex., May 26.—Marshalling a copious vocabulary of abuse in an arraignment of the Aaron Sapiro plan of cotton marketing as advocated by the Texas Farm Bureau federation, O. H. Cross, farmer, lawyer and orator, at the afternoon session yesterday of the Fourth District Texas Hardware and Implement Dealers' association declared it to be "un-American, monopolistic, visionary and headed toward anarchy." "Based on my nine years' experience as a prosecuting attorney, I could convict any farmer who signs the Sapiro contract of larceny," asserted Mr. Cross.

Cross Address Features
Mr. Cross' address featured yesterday's convention program which began at 10 a. m. with an invocation by Dr. Robert E. Goodrich and will end this afternoon with committee reports, election of officers and naming of the next convention city. Sessions are being held in the ballroom of Hotel Raleigh.

Assails Cotton Contract
"I am proud to say that not a single Sapiro contract has been signed in McLennan county," said Mr. Cross. "The men back of this movement are wild cat, exploiting promoters. They ask the farmer to turn his cotton over to a non-capital corporation whose directors are not named, for an unknown price, to be sold over an indefinite number of years. 'It isn't a contract, it's a bill of sale whereby the farmer sells himself and family into bondage for five years.' The speaker charged that such men as President W. B. Bizzell and Clarence Ousley of A. & M. College were inveigled into indorsement and assistance of the farm bureau, and predicted that they would suffer disillusionment and the disfavor of Texas farmers 'for their folly.'"

Refers to Bible
Calling on the Bible for an illustration, he compared the Sapiro promoters to Jacob and the farmers to Esau, who sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. The A. & M. College officials he likened to Father Isaac, blind and disconsolate in his old age. Mr. Cross urged the hardware men, as close friends of farmers, to aid the warehouse program and put "system in cotton marketing where there is now speculation." He declared that half the 1920 crop would have brought twice as much as the bumper crop produced.

The issue of the integrity of the Texas press was brought up in connection with the Cross address, and the speaker intimated that the newspapers had given the farm bureau the inside track and were not publishing his addresses. The newspapers had not given Cross a fair deal, was his charge.

It is probable that the resolution committee, consisting of T. H. Jones, Waxahachie; J. R. Polasek, West, and G. W. Lee, McGregor, will include a recommendation on the Sapiro plan in their report today.

WAGGONER'S TAX IS GREATLY REDUCED

Wichita Falls, Tex., May 25.—Bob Waggoner, one of the largest royalty holders in the North Texas oil fields, has received word through his attorneys that the special income tax of $800,000 levied against him last year had been reduced by $785,000, making special tax now only $15,000.

LABOR DISPUTES PREVENT RETURN TO NORMAL CONDITIONS

Washington, May 26.—Dispatches received in review of business conditions during the past week and in forecast of the coming week have for dominant note a realization that the looked-for breathing space in the country's progress toward prosperity has come and that it isn't as bad as expected. Most industries are making time, dispatches from the chief centers indicate, with the expectation that gains already made during the past few months will be held. Nothing on the horizon indicates overnight resumption of normal conditions; and at the same time there is no indication of further back-sliding.

May is a month, in normal times, of quietude in the business world. Sales generally fall off a bit; buyers feel out the market for the better values; labor, too, is restless. And this year May is running true to form.

Among all the influences tending to make this May a quiet month is the labor situation and chief of the unsettled factors in the world of labor, perhaps, is the building situation. The shortage in construction work since America entered the war is estimated at fifteen billion dollars. The number of persons dependent upon the construction industry is estimated at 20,000,000.

Slow In Getting Started
Yet there has been no general whole-hearted going to work on the staggering job of making good the shortage. Indications are that there won't be till wages in the building trades come down. In many cities, such as Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland and other large centers, labor in the building trades is out on strike against proposed wage cuts. In others such as Pittsburgh where the Chamber of Commerce contemplates a plan for erecting 1,000 buildings the work is to go to the lowest bidder, there are unmistakable signs that labor will fight a cut in price.

Ranking the construction industry, point of numbers involved, is agriculture. Here again the outlook is regarded somewhat less optimistically than America's millions of farmers would like to regard it. Kansas City reports prospects for a bumper wheat yield, with harvest time but thirty days away—and with much of last year's grain still on hand. An outlet must be found abroad, it is felt for the American farmer, but high transportation charge militate against any solution.

Fort Worth reports the farmers getting ready for a big harvest. San Francisco tells of the troubles of her fruit and vegetable raisers who are now seeking a reduction of freight rates to stimulate buying in the East.

36,000,000 Depend on Farmer
Thirty-five million persons in the United States find their prosperity immediately tied up with the farmers. Thus in the two industries—agriculture and construction—55,000,000 persons are facing a period of further stabilization.

It is but natural, therefore, that the manufacturing sections of the Middle West and the East should experience the period of unsettlement through which they are now passing. There are many auguries however, that it will be shorter than most men imagine. For instance, the railroads are picking up in a most gratifying manner, the latest report of car loadings showing an increase of more than 17,000 for the week—the fourth consecutive increase, by the way, much of which is due to increased demand for bituminous coal.

The latter factor is helping make prosperity brighter for Pittsburgh where many mines are working at a pace unmatched before this year, filling the Northwest's orders for shipment by way of the Lakes. There will be several months of this activity without doubt and its effect will be to make that section generally more prosperous.

Prices drift slowly downward. The retailers of the country are here in Washington to deny that they are not deflating along with the producer and the jobber.

New England Active
New England reports excellent maintenance of the volume of retail trade with activity not so great in manufacturing lines. The shoe business is quiet, but the wool business good, as is the business of makers of fine cotton goods. New York is experiencing the usual May advent of out-of-town buyers, but they all want bargains.

The Broadway retailer, incidentally is finding that it pays to cut his profit to the bone. Those who aren't cutting aren't selling, those who are cutting are reordering. Philadelphia regards its labor situation as the big sore spot on its body commercial. The city of brotherly love is particularly bedeviled by unbrotherly disputes between employer and employee in many lines.

Money is easier and credit not hard to obtain, generally speaking, for the man who really needs it and has collateral of real merit. Few others need apply to most of the banks. At the present no Federal Reserve Bank maintains discount rate higher than 6-1/2 per cent, the latest cuts being announced by Dallas and St. Paul.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S NEW YORK SPEECH VERY OPTIMISTIC

(By Associated Press)
New York, May 26.—The co-operation of every factor of American business and industry to put the nation's house in order after the dislocation of war was bespoken by President Harding at a dinner here celebrating the 125th anniversary of the New York Commercial. Agriculture, labor and business management, the president declared, must stand together in the confident purpose of reconstruction. He asserted that although the United States did not want to live in isolation and selfishness, its duties to the rest of the world could best be performed by giving it attention first to rehabilitation of its own resources.

On the part of the administration, Mr. Harding promised that government interference with business reduced to a minimum, while government cooperation withall properly conducted business would be expanded and broadened. He declared his purpose to reserve pendency in some quarters "to regard business as dishonest until it should prove itself honest, and to regard bigness in business as a crime." Emphasizing the fundamental importance of agriculture, the president asserted that the farmer was entitled to "all the help the government can give him without injustice to others." For the wage earner he asked sufficient compensation for comfort, education and a margin of savings, while for the other element in industry he urged a fair opportunity to do its part in the reconstruction task. President Harding also suggested that the nation's loan to the allies be put into a more tangible form. That facilities of exchange be bettered and that all the financial policies of reconstruction period be so formulated as to protect the gold standard. "Assuming that things may be laid down as fundamentals," he said it is for us all to get back to work. We must have confidence that things will come right. We have dealt with the greatest problem that humanity ever confronted in carrying on the war. We will have no problem hereafter or more difficult than that was. Therefore we are entitled to every confidence that we will cope successfully with the problems that lie ahead of us."

The text of the president's address follows in part: "The New York Commercial was founded in the time when the young republic was distracted by a division of opinion concerning our relations with Europe. The noble Washington was being lampooned and traduced because his administration was committed to the jay treaty with Great Britain, first of the nation's commercial covenants. It represented an effort to escape embroilment with the old world system, and in the period when we were too weak to sustain a foreign conflict, it served to postpone that disaster. But to postpone, for with every wish, preserve the peace, it was impossible. We fought wars with France and England as incidents to the French revolutionary and Napoleonic upheaval.

"It has been too often assumed that our recent involvement in the troubles of Europe marked a new development in our affairs. In fact it was an old story, we never were an inveterate ally to maintain isolation. But our part and our peace in international affairs are strikingly changed. Our rise in power and influence have imposed new responsibilities.

"Today our strength in the industrial, financial and commercial world, capacity to produce, our ability to extend credits which others cannot give and which brave but unfortunate peoples sorely need—all these make it necessary that we shall adopt new commercial methods, whereby to insure the fullest possible service to civilization. I bespeak the help of every organ of intelligence, understanding business, to enable the nation to meet the demands.

"It has been said many times, but it cannot be too often repeated and emphasized, that in doing this we will be alike discharging a duty to others and seizing an opportunity for our own advancement. There have seldom been more convincing proofs than we see all around us now. He who displays the broadest spirit of brotherhood, helpfulness and true charity, will most surely be casting his bread upon the waters.

"Our duty to the world at large is pressing, but we will equip ourselves best to perform helpfully if we are unwaveringly loyal to ourselves. The most important thing to America is our constitutional system. Inseparable from the foundation of a more perfect union, the constitution sought to establish justice. True, we have not attained the perfection of our ideals in this regard, nor have any other human society done so. Justice, like charity, must begin at home. We must be just to ourselves and to our own, first of all. This is not selfish, for selfishness seeks more than a fair share; we seek only that which is rightfully our own, and then to preserve that to ourselves and our posterity.

"We will do well to keep in mind at this time the fundamental importance of agriculture and in any possible way insure justice to it. The farmer is entitled to all the help the government can give him without injustice to others, because it is of the utmost importance. This must be accomplished not at the expense of any other section, but by processes, which will insure real justice among all elements in the community.

RIORDAN GIVES A BOND FOR MURDER THOMAS E. MOON

(By Associated Press)
San Angelo, Tex., May 26.—Leslie Riordan, a prominent cattleman was released on a $10,000 bond last night at Sterling City at the conclusion of habeas corpus proceedings. He was indicted on May 4, on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting on April 30 of Thomas E. Moon.

Justice to others, because it is of the utmost importance. This must be accomplished not at the expense of any other section, but by processes, which will insure real justice among all elements in the community.

"Turning to industry, our policy must be to give it every facility possible but to keep government outside of participation in business on its own account. It is not necessary for the government to intrude itself in the business activities which are better conducted through private instrumentalities, merely in order to demonstrate that the government is more powerful than anything else in this country. The government's part in business should be no more than to insure adherence to the principles of common honesty, and to establish relations that will enable us to sail a safe course. There has been some tendency to regard business as dishonest until it should prove itself honest, and to regard bigness in business as a crime. But almost all business today is conducted on a scale, which, though we have come to regard it as common play, would have made our forefathers gasp; and I prefer to assume it is honest until proven dishonest. So I speak for the least possible measure of government interference with business, but for the largest cooperation and properly conducted business, and the most effective measures to insure that, whether big or little, business shall be honest and fair.

"In an effort at establishing industrial justice we must see that the wage earner is placed in an economically sound position. His lowest wage must be enough to insure that the struggle for existence shall not crowd out the things truly worth existing for. There must be provision, education, for recreation and a margin for savings. There must be such freedom of action as will insure full play to the individuals abilities. On the other side, the wage earner must do justice to society. He must render services equal in value to the compensation he is paid. And finally, both employer and employee owe to the public such efficiency as will insure that cost of service or production shall not be higher than the public can fairly pay.

Assuming that these things may be laid down as fundamentals it is time for us all to get back to work. That is what made our country great, it is what will put the whole world back on the right track. We must have, the world must have, confidence that things will come out right. We have dealt with the greatest problem that humanity has ever confronted, in carrying on the war. We will have no problem hereafter greater or more difficult than that was. Therefore we are entitled to every confidence that we will cope successfully with problems which yet lie ahead of us.

"Our position in the world has been greatly changed as a result of the war. We have become a creditor rather than a debtor. The exigencies of war compelled the government to take, by taxation, much wealth from our people, to be loaned to our allies. This is the basis of their obligation to us, and it is not good form in which to hold the obligations of one people to another. It is altogether to be hoped that in a reasonable period we may change the form of these obligations and distribute them among all the people. We hope also that there may be effective reduction of the cost of government. In these ways we hope to relieve a great volume of wealth and credit from the burden that the government has been imposing and make it available for the development of domestic industry and the expansion of foreign trade. We ask the cooperation of business leaders and we assure them that within its proper limitations the government will meet them half way.

"By this process we shall aim to create renewed demand for the product of our industries, to establish permanent markets abroad for surpluses. We are learning that the immediate need, so far as our own country is concerned, is not so much productive as facilities exchange. To that end, I could wish that the tendency of the world's gold to gravitate to us might be checked beyond the point of insuring security to our circulation, gold would be more useful to us in the vaults of great banks abroad where it would be the guarantee of gold standard and of those fair exchanges which are vital in international trade. I feel strongly that the protection of the gold standard is one of the great obligations which peculiarly appeals to us.

"We are coming to understand the elements of the problems we face, and that is a long step toward solution. Give us the earnest support as I see gathered here, of such organs of sound policy as we are gathered to acclaim and we shall not be long in putting our country on the right course, ready for the signal 'full speed ahead.'"

Automobile Law Has Been Attacked In Courts

(By Associated Press)
Austin, Tex., May 26.—The validity of the law on the statute books of Texas requiring a person driving a motor vehicle to stop and aid or assist any person struck by the vehicle is up for test in the court of criminal appeals. This provision is part of the law passed by the thirty-fifth legislature and amended by the thirty-sixth legislature, commonly called the "light dimmer law." The dimmer law was held unconstitutional and inoperative by the court in a former case because, the court said, it was too indefinite and vague. Another provision of the law requiring a driver of a motor vehicle to drive on the right side of the road or street and observe all care and diligence to protect pedestrians and other drivers of vehicles was held invalid by the court in a similar case for the same reasons—being vague and indefinite.

The test case of the provision now before the court comes from Tarrant county with M. W. Scott as appellant. The provision of the law under which Scott was convicted requires a person driving a motor vehicle to stop and render aid or assistance in case his vehicle collides with a person or another vehicle, including the carrying of such persons or occupants of another vehicle to a physician or surgeon for medical or surgical treatment, if such treatment is required, or if such carrying is requested by the person struck or any occupant of the vehicle which was struck. The records of the case show that Scott was charged with colliding with J. I. Ivey on May 11, 1920, in Tarrant county and that Scott failed to carry Ivey to a physician or surgeon for treatment, "then and there required by Ivey" from being struck by Scott's automobile. Scott was convicted in the Tarrant county court and punishment assessed at a fine of $100 and imprisonment in the county jail for ninety days. The opinion of the court of criminal appeals has not been handed down and the constitutionality of the case thus far is undetermined.

The appellant claims that the law is invalid and inoperative because it is vague, ambiguous and of such doubtful construction that it can not be understood in the language in which it is expressed. The validity of the law will be construed by the decision of the court, this being the first time it has been appealed.

BRAZOS COUNTY

BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPT.

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

A large crowd witnessed the allotment of Shorthorn heifers to club boys Saturday, May 21.

Long before the noon hour many anxious club boys and interested farmers were calling on the county agent making inquiry as to the details of the program. At 1 p. m. the Chamber of Commerce rooms were filled with people to listen to short talks by President R. Q. Astin of the Brazos County Pure Bred Live Stock Association, R. W. Persons, in charge of Boys' Club work, Extension Service, County Agent Beason, and John C. Burns, secretary Shorthorn Breeders Association, Fort Worth. Mr. Astin told the boys that he had made good with his Shorthorns, but that he had given them attention. He told them that from a $175 heifer he had sold the first calf for $350, eleven months later the same cow dropped another calf, which he sold, at seven months old, for $250. "I would just like to ask," said Astin, "what such a cow is really worth?"

Mr. Burns stated that while he lives in Fort Worth he felt at home in Bryan, and was interested in the success of Brazos county. He pointed out to the club boys that it is not the man who goes into big undertakings who is always the most successful. The boys were told that they might expect eight calves from each of their heifers during the next ten years, or to be exact 27 1-2 animals from original stock, 13 of which would be females.

Mr. Burns stated that there is no use to have purebred stock unless they are fed out; that an animal is what it is for two reasons, from what it inherits and from what you feed it, and that regularity in feeding is as profitable as feed itself. The product produced is always the best method of advertising. The four following suggestions were left with the boys in order that they might be most successful in their purebred livestock enterprise:

1-Breed heifers to good bulls, "make the best better"

2-Feed calves to best advantage.

3-Advertise; show stock at county fairs.

4-Keep organized.

Mr. Persons reminded the boys that they were preparing to make their first business obligation and that he wanted every one of them to begin now to meet the obligation, adding that their records at College show that only one club boy ever defaulted, and that in the payment of a fifty dollar obligation.

County Agent Beason also reminded the boys that they would right soon find, as every one finds, some one to discourage, or knock their undertakings. "I hope," said the county agent, "that you have chosen the Shorthorns because you have faith in them, and that your superior products will clearly show to the world that your faith was well founded. Such club members we desire to have in Hereford and Dairy Clubs soon to be formed."

The name and registration number of each heifer were written on paper, the paper folded and placed in a hat from which the boys were to draw, each boy taking the heifer whose name and number appeared on ticket drawn. Paul Boriskie, the first name so called, being absent, it was agreed that Harold Shealy might draw instead, with the understanding that if Boriskie failed to show up then Shealy would be declared eligible for membership in Shorthorn Club. Boriskie did not show up and if there was a first choice among the heifers, Harold Shealy got it. The other successful boys were: Robert Buchanan, Kurten; Tillman Jones, Reliance; Russell Lloyd, Reliance; Joe Lloyd, Jr., Reliance; Thurston Etheridge, Harvey; Julian Cobb, Tabor; Kurten Herrling, Kurten; Emory Jones, Bryan, Route 4; Floy Saxon, Reliance.

We regret that space forbids our giving in full the many splendid stories of the club trip to College, but the following excerpts from several of the papers will indicate the character and quality of thought this eventful day aroused:

The day is now gone; only its memory remains, and with its ending we regret that we are unable to grasp the full significance of all we saw and heard. We learned lots, still, we must

Church officiating. It was a quiet affair, only members of the family being present. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox went to their beautiful farm home in the Tabor community, where they are to reside. The groom, Mr. Wilcox is a prominent citizen of Brazos County and has been identified with the best interests of the community. PURE BRED CALVES DELIVERED TO BOYS
President Roger O. Astin, of the Brazos County Pure Bred Live Stock Association and County Agent C. L. Beason are delivering the ten pure bred Short Horn calves to the boys of the Live Stock Clubs of Brazos County this afternoon. These calves cost about $150 and their purchase by the boys were made possible by the City National Bank by loaning the money. This is a most important step in the development of the purebred stock business in this county.

The boy or girl who goes through life and never sees the small things never sees half of the large ones, therefore, they never get past the first rounds of the ladder.—Ernest Ammons.

After seeing the purebred Angus, the Herefords, and the Shorthorns, I would never be satisfied raising scrub yearlings.—Una Edge.

One of the most interesting and pleasant occurrences of the day happened at the noon hour when we had the pleasure of seeing the cadets as they formed in line for a drive on the mess hall. I dare say that each boy in our company hoped, as he gazed upon this spectacle, that at no far distant day he might have the opportunity of joining the ranks of this great army of school boys endeavoring to fit themselves for a more useful life and citizenship.—Aubrey Moore.

On our way back to Bryan we stopped in at the Bryan Hatchery. Twenty thousands eggs can be hatched at one time in it. Most of the club members missed this, as they were tired, but I never get tired as long as I can learn and observe as much as I did on that day.—Hilma Andrews.

The day spent in great interest and pleasure, we started home, having learned more of College and getting good points that will help us in our work at home.—Pearl Huggins.

Report from Walker county states that several cream stations have recently been formed under the auspices of County Agent Jones, and proving most profitable to the farmers of that county. The farmers of Brazos county have a better opportunity for marketing cream than the farmers of Walker county. J. D. Martin, manager Parker-Astin Hardware Company, proposes to deliver cream to College, if left at store on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Application for membership in Dairy and Hereford clubs continue to roll in, indicating that applications will far outnumber the ten members to be financed in each one of these clubs. That is all right. Send in your applications, maybe we can help you later.

The business men of Bryan continue to show their interest in club members by reporting their willingness to send Weekly Eagle for four months, to some club member. Following is list added to that of last week. Keep these lists on file for future reference: Webb Brothers, W. J. Coulter Company, A. M. Waldrop & Company, Smith Drug Company, M. F. Vitopil & Company, E. Griesser, Sam B. Wilson & Company, Brandon & Lawrence, Dr. C. A. Searcy, S. E. Eberstadt, J. E. Covey, J. L. Edge, L. B. Kern, (2); J. I. Barron, C. L. Beason, (3); Myers Hardware Co., E. Kennedy. (Other names to follow next week).

P. G. Haines, County Agent, DeWitt county, in recent letter to County Agent Beason, has the following to say with reference to diversification in the Cuero country: "Some will tell you that farming and turkeys will not go together. Just tell them that DeWitt County raised 46,000 bales of cotton last year and other products in proportion, and in addition raised $1,000,000 of turkeys."

Brazos county will produce as fine turkeys as DeWitt county. In fact, some of our farmers have already found turkey raising profitable. One farmer is authority for the statement that his turkeys paid the taxes against his large plantation last year.

Outlook for good corn yield is not at all promising at this time, but let's not forget that we have time yet for other feed crops, such as peas, peanuts, sorghum, etc. We must stop the terrific drain on our resources by paying out more than a thousand dollars a day for feed stuffs in Bryan. The freight is too high, the haul is too long. We can produce our feed stuff in Brazos county.

If by any process of training, it matters not how costly, we could implant in the American youth a love of industry, and a knowledge of agriculture and mechanical arts, they would blend with our native genius and ability to do masterful things, and Americans would become the industrial arbiters of the world.—Dr. Seaman A. Knapp.

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Pain Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stogall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me

Bryan Looming As A Manufacturing Center

(J. Felton Lane in Hearne Democrat)

Our sister city sitting south of us is going to be a manufacturing center if plans of Mr. Lee J. Rountree and other progressive spirits materialize. They recently organized a $75,000 corporation and made up the money to manufacture and market the brain-a-minut shoe polishing machine, the product of the brain of a Bryan inventor, and which is considered the most wonderful invention of the kind in the world, and they are now organizing a shoeing machine company—hold on readers, catch hold of your hat—we do not mean they are going to poison people by machinery, but they are going to poison boll weevils, boll worms, and worms, potato bugs, green bugs and all kinds of field and pit pests. The inventor is J. M. Saladin of Bryan and the company is being organized for $100,000.

Manufacturing is one of the sources of wealth that has made many of the largest cities of the world and there is no reason why Bryan or Hearne could not be a modern Manchester. All we need is initiative—we heard what you said, that we also needed money—but people with initiative and enterprise and marketable ideas can usually get all the money they need. In fact too much money and too easily gotten has been the curse of lots of men and lots of communities.

GER Q. ASTIN, OF BRYAN, IS IN BIG MARLIN COMPANY

(Marlin Daily Democrat).

Formation of the Conyers Livestock and Feed Corporation with a capital stock of $350,000 and headquarters here, was effected at a meeting of stockholders in the directors' room of the Marlin National Bank Monday afternoon, when directors were elected, following which the board chose officers: R. Q. Astin is president and general manager of the company. Other officers: R. Q. Astin of Bryan, first vice-president; M. Piper of Kansas City, second vice-president; R. L. Weathersby of Silsbee, third vice-president; J. S. Welch of Vinton, La., fourth vice-president; and G. W. Glass of Marlin, secretary-treasurer. The directors are: R. Q. Astin, R. L. Weathersby, M. J. Poole, J. M. Piper, A. Reed, G. W. Glass, H. O. Baranier, B. H. Willis of Beaumont, J. S. Welch, and Geo. H. Carter. The Marlin men are all well known here, being prominently identified with the commercial interests of the city and section.

Mr. Weathersby is general manager of the Kirby Lumber Co.'s interests at Silsbee, and is also a banker. Mr. Astin is a prominent banker and stockman of Bryan. Mr. Piper is president of Piper Bros. Horse and Cattle Co., vice-president of the Stock Exchange Bank of Kansas City, Mo., and president of the Exchange State Bank of Parsons, Kansas. Mr. Willis of Beaumont is one of South Texas' largest rice farmers, cattle men and contractors; and Mr. Welch of Vinton, La., who is general manager of the Sabine Canal Co., and is one of the large rice farmers of South Western Louisiana.

The company is now incorporating and instructions were given at the Monday afternoon session to obtain charter as soon as possible.

The new company has taken over the property and business of the Calcasieu Horse and Mule Market of Lake Charles, La., Brazos Valley Horse and Mule Market of Beaumont, likewise of Bryan, and the Southern Livestock and Feed Market of Marlin, which were formerly the properties of J. N. Conyers of this city, together with his exporting business.

On account of the rapid expansion of Mr. Conyers' business, coupled with the development of the exporting trade, the Conyers Livestock and Feed Corporation was organized for the purpose of meeting this phenomenal growth of his business. Among the principal features of the new corporation will be to assist in rehabilitating the livestock industry of Mexico. Mr. Conyers is directly in touch with the livestock business of Mexico at this time. The company will establish its exporting headquarters in the near future at one of the Texas ports for the purpose of furthering its commercial program of exporting livestock and grain with its foreign trade.

Ever since Mr. Conyers came to Marlin about 15 years ago, he has exercised a vision and acumen in livestock and feed stuff lines that has been crowned with success after success.

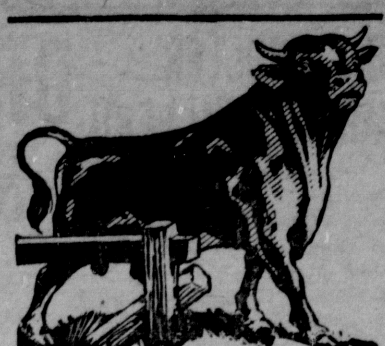

The organization of this company is one of the largest undertakings of its kind ever accomplished in Texas and should mean, a long step towards the development of the agricultural and livestock interests of the South.

MACHINES TO SHINE SHOES TO BE MADE IN BRYAN, TEXAS

(San Marcos Daily Times)

Bryan is to be the location of a factory which is to produce something new under the sun—machines for shining shoes. The Bryan Automatic Shoe Polishing Company has just obtained a charter from the secretary of state and has begun the erection of a factory with equipment costing $50,000. Well known Texans are interested in the business.

The automatic shoe polishing machine, which has been patented, is the only machine of its kind in the world, according to Lee J. Rountree, one of the directors of the company. It will polish a pair of shoes in 50 seconds and a shoe shining parlor with six machines will be able to polish 240 pairs of shoes in an hour.

The pattern machine was made in Cleveland, Ohio, and will be on exhibition in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Waco, San Antonio and Austin. The factory has been located in Bryan and the machinery has arrived and has been installed by Supt. P. P. Cooper, of Cleveland, Ohio.

STATE FORESTER E. O. SIECKE FOR FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

(By Associated Press)

College Station, Tex., May 21.—Forest Fire Prevention week which began Sunday by proclamation of President Harding and his request for all citizens of the United States to plan for the week such educational and instructive exercises as shall bring before the people Sunday the "serious and unhappy effects of the present unnecessary waste by forest fires" is being observed in Texas. Forest Fire Prevention week should be observed earnestly in Texas, because this state is vitally interested in the matter of safeguarding our remaining timber supplies and renewing commercial forests on lands unfitted for agriculture yet admirably adapted for timber growth, said State Forester E. O. Siecke, of A. & M. College.

"Texas is vitally interested in this matter for we have in the piney woods counties over 3,000,000 acres of non-agriculture cutover land, which is only partially productive or entirely idle, due to the forest fire nuisance," Mr. Siecke said. "Seed from the defective trees left on this area when it is logged over would reforest the bulk of such lands, provided adequate steps were taken to control fires which each year burn up most of the seeds and the small pine trees which sprout from such seeds as are fortunate enough to escape the fires.

"With the limited funds available we have been able to conduct a measure fire prevention campaign in the piney woods counties and this work has enlisted the support of the substantial citizens in that part of the state. A nominal appropriation of $20,000 per annum, together with the assistance we could obtain from the federal government, would permit the organization of an effective fire prevention system. In a few years, the seed trees will have blown down over much of this area and then it will cost from $6 to $10 an acre to establish a new forest. Conditions are still such that nature will restore the land with young pine trees if protection from fire is given and such protection will cost less than one cent per acre yearly. If we remain indifferent to the situation the public will pay a penalty at the rate of from $6 to $10 per acre for our lack of foresight whenever lumber is bought in the future."

BENNETT NOT NOMINATED

Prof. W. W. Bennett, of Bryan, was in the city a short time last Saturday. In a meeting held at Bryan recently to "draft" a man as candidate for State Senator, Mr. Bennett was endorsed for the place.—Fairfield Recorder.

The above is slightly an error. Mr. Bennett is not a citizen of Bryan but lives at Groesbeck, Limestone county. He was not endorsed or drafted at the meeting held in Bryan and as yet, no candidate from Brazos county has been drafted or endorsed for State Senator. The meeting did not take up the endorsement of any of the candidates from Limestone or Freestone counties as none asked to be endorsed.

A. W. Kinnard of the state department of agriculture, after spending a few days with his family is leaving Tuesday for Groesbeck to resume his duties.

THE COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS FOR BRAZOS COUNTY

At the call of the County Board of Education of Brazos county, John A. Moore, Prof. Martin L. Hayes, Charley Merker, Jno. M. Moore and Joe Lloyd, with Chairman John A. Moore presiding, the trustees of local boards and many teachers and patrons met in the County Court House last Saturday to consider the duties and opportunities of the boards of trustees in conducting the various schools of the county. This is a movement in the right direction and much good should come from this and similar conferences that should be arranged during the year.

Prof. Martin L. Hayes head of Vocational teaching at A. & M. College was asked to discuss the subject: "The duties and opportunities of school trustees." Prof. Hayes impressed upon the trustees the responsibility that rests upon them in conducting the affairs of the schools. He urged them to recognize the difficulty of the task and suggested that they seek the help of the County superintendent, and other agencies available. The County Superintendent is chosen by the people because he is supposed to direct the educational development of the county and is supposed to have a long time program. In Rural School improvement, Mr. Hayes said such a program may be blocked completely by lack of co-operation or lack of appreciation on the part of the local trustees. Some trustees consider their work done when they have elected teachers in the school without any consultation with the County Superintendent. Often these teachers happen to be favorites of the majority of the Board. Frequently this favorite is not due to efficiency in teaching or special fitness in training or experience for the particular position. The County Superintendent is burdened with the responsibility of the schools of the county and a failure in any school makes against his reputation. The training of the boys and girls is too serious an undertaking to be treated lightly. When the future of these young people is at stake the trustees cannot afford to let mere friendship or personal interest stand in the way of the efficiency of his school.

Mr. Hayes showed the importance of the consolidation of the schools and the introduction of home training for the girls and Vocational training for the boys. He showed how schools like Tabor and Edge could co-operate to secure the service of a teacher of Vocational Agriculture one half day at each school and thus hold boys in school who otherwise would drop out. He also urged other schools such as Harvey, Steep Hollow, Kurten, etc., to arrange to employ a teacher to give instructions two or three half days a week. Money for this work can be secured from Smith-Hughes funds and from State funds. About $200 of local funds from each school a year would enable the program to be put on. When such work is established in Brazos County, the rural schools will take such a hold on the patrons that the dread of taxes or bond issues will be passed.

Mrs. W. B. Cline, president of the Parent-Teachers' Association addressed the meeting on the object of the Parent-Teachers' Association and said in part: "The object of Parent-Teachers' Association is to create an interest in all things concerning children in home, school or community to bring into closer relation the home and the school that our parents and teachers may work together intelligently in the education of the child.

The only requirements for membership is a deep interest in the children of a community; a desire to work in a practical way for the physical, mental, moral and spiritual development of the child. In fact to study every phase of child welfare. Love, sympathy and unselfish service must be the motive power for effective work in the organization.

While we are about the work of making better schools for Texas children we must make systematic efforts to rear better children for Texas schools if we are to accomplish the task we have started out to do. We are day by day building character that goes into our future citizens. We must see to it that we are providing conditions which will make a worthy citizenship."

NURSE FOR BRAZOS COUNTY

(By Mrs. J. C. Nagle, given before the meeting.)

Our most valuable possessions are our children and the greatest asset that Brazos County has or could have is a healthy citizenry. Physical health insures mental health, and the person who is both physically and mentally healthy is almost certainly going to be morally healthy also. Bright, wholesome, welltrained children grow up into intelligent, industrious, upright men and women, and such, not only add to the material wealth of the community, but make it a very desirable place in which to reside.

Now, as many of you know, the Parent-Teachers' Association both of Bryan and the Consolidated School at the A. & M. College have, with the assistance of the Red Cross Public Health Service, recently put on a health survey in the two schools. The object of this was to ascertain the general condition of the children and to suggest such simple corrective measures as might serve to remedy slight defects, and in more serious cases to recommend treatment by a physician or surgeon before the trouble was too far advanced. We were assisted in this work by the Physicians of Bryan, and Dr. Ehlinger of the A. & M. College. Doctors are the only class of Professional men that I know of who are constantly working to remedy conditions that if left alone will inevitably put money in their pockets. More, who will actually take of the time which means money to them, and donate the skill and knowledge which it has cost them time and money to acquire, in order to remedy these conditions. At the College I was asked to "phone the doctors five busy doctors, among the most prominent in the two communities, gave the same answer: "When do you want me to come?" We weighed and measured every child in the schools, asked a few simple questions as to the child's general living conditions, amount of milk taken, etc., and made some suggestions as to diet, and gave each child the Red Cross pledge card, and asked for a promise that they would try to keep the simple health rules printed there on. Incidentally, I am told by the parents of such of the children as I know personally, that they are all intensely interested, and very insistent on the daily bath, use of tooth-brush, milk and fresh air. The doctors made a general "head examination," eyes, ears, teeth, noses, and throats. We propose to notify the parents of children whose eyes are not normal, whose teeth need attention, who have adenoids, or enlarged tonsils, in order that these conditions may be remedied before serious troubles result, or the health of the child is permanently impaired. Many a child makes poor grades on account of impaired vision, when a simple pair of reading glasses, properly fitted would obviate the difficulty. But teeth cause indigestion, with all of its attendant ills. Adenoids, as most of you know, are the little growths at the back of the nostrils which interfere with the child's breathing, causing logginess, enemaia, dullness of hearing, etc. The tonsils are regular germ-catchers, and once diseased are a source of menace to the whole body. The comparatively simple operation of removing the adenoids and diseased tonsils, will in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, change a stupid, inattentive youngster, into a bright alert student.

Now it does not do much good to start a thing and then not follow it up. We can't ask the doctors to give too much of their time, nor can we make to many demands on the women of the community who assisted. Not only that, but what was done in the two largest schools in the county should be done in every school in the county and it is for this that we are asking the installing of a County Health Nurse for Brazos County. She will make regular rounds of the County schools; keep comparative records of the general health conditions of the children; make suggestions as to sanitation and general hygienic conditions; help out in cases of emergency, until a private nurse, or removal to hospital can be procured; give instruction in "First Aid" and Home nursing, etc. Will it be "worth while?" Is it worth anything to keep our children in good condition? Is it worth while to pay a comparatively small sum annually to prevent illness, or to risk a serious condition which may cause permanent disablement, or an operation costing hundreds, may be thousands of dollars and untold suffering to remedy? Other counties are doing this, why should Brazos county, "the best in the State" be behind? Surely Brazos County children are worth as much to the State and to the community, to say nothing of their own parents, as any others. When in Wharton recently, I was shown the County "Health Center" rooms. They have an office and small operating room, the equipment of which is the property of a young eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist. In return for the use of the space, he makes regular rounds of the county schools in company with the County Health Nurse, making free examinations. Where an operation for the removal of adenoids or tonsils is necessary, he performs it for a nominal sum. They have another room furnished with about a dozen cots where the little patients can be cared for by the nurse until fully recovered from the anesthetic, and well enough to be taken home. They showed me a quart and a pint of diseased adenoids and tonsils which had been taken from the children of Wharton County. The next ten or twelve years should show enormous results in increased efficiency of the citizens of Wharton County. Can Brazos County boys and girls catch up to have their chance. I am sure that we have just as many intelligent, far-seeing tax-payers in this county as in any other. I know that we have just as many unselfish, public spirited men and women. Let's get together and put this thing over. The Red Cross will help, the Commercial Club will help; the Women's Clubs will help; the County Commissioners will help; and if the County School Boards can only "catch the vision" and do their share, by the time the schools open in the fall we will have our County Health Nurse, and Brazos County boys and girls will have an equal chance with any others for the health which spells wealth, wisdom and success.

ARKANSAS FARMER IS IN FINE SHAPE

BENNETT'S HEALTH RESTORED BY TANLAC TWO YEARS AGO, AND HE CONTINUES WELL AND STRONG.

"It was two years ago that Tanlac set me right and put me into shape where I gained thirty pounds in weight and I have been in the best of health and retained my weight to this good day," said Oliver P. Bennett, a well-known farmer of Union Township, R. F. D. No. 4, Little Rock, Ark.

"I have been a farmer all my life," he continued, "But two years ago I got so I wasn't able to work and was beginning to think my farming days might be over. My stomach was all out of order and my appetite was well nigh gone. My nerves broke down and I couldn't half sleep. My shoulders and chest hurt something awful, and I got so weak and all run down I was beginning to wonder where it was all going to end. I had been under treatment for two years, but in spite of it all I was growing worse and gradually losing in weight.

"Finally I took a notion that Tanlac might fit my case. Well, sir, I never will forget how I commenced to pick up. Why, I never saw the like. I took six bottles and actually gained thirty pounds, as I said, and felt so well and strong I could go out and work from sun up to sun-down. Ever since then I have been feeling fine and I have this good old Tanlac to thank for it all." Tanlac is sold in Bryan by N. A. Stewart and all leading druggists.

A. & M. COMMENCEMENT GREATEST IN HISTORY

Governor Neff, and Mr. Price, of New York, Deliver Great Addresses—President Bizzell Presides at the Most Memorable Commencement of College Today.

Probably the greatest commencement exercises in the triumphant history of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas ended at 12 o'clock Tuesday when Governor Pat M. Neff, Dr. William Bennett Bizzell and Secretary Charles E. Friley delivered the diplomas to the graduating class of 146 men who had won their spurs and the highest honors of the great College and face the future equipped with the knowledge that make men successful in this life. Hon. Theodore H. Price, of New York, delivered a wonderful commencement address and Governor Pat Mr. Neff awarded the diplomas. It was a remarkable scene and an inspiring occasion and Dr. Bizzell bidding the class farewell touched on the great principles of life. Gov. Neff left at noon for Brownwood to make another address.

SPLENDID ACHIEVEMENT IS RECORDED. (Special to the Eagle)

The third day of commencement at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas was made a distinctive occasion by the arrival of Governor Pat M. Neff and Adjutant General Barton here at 3:30 Monday afternoon. A troop of mounted cavalry under command of Cadet Captain A. L. Forbes of Houston was lined up near the station landing when the train arrived and as the governor alighted with his party the troops unsheathed their sabers and drew them in salute while he was met by President Bizzell and escorted to his waiting automobile. The troop then took the lead as an escort and conducted the party to the campus.

As they approached the drill ground a battery of three-inch American field guns began firing the salute of seventeen guns appropriate to a governor. The governor and his party went immediately to the reviewing stand reviewed a parade of the entire cadet corps. Over one thousand cadets participated in the military parade. They were fully armed and equipped. All branches of infantry, cavalry, field artillery, signal corps and aviation were represented. They wore steel helmets of the design worn in the trenches in Europe during the world as head gear. It is claimed by the military department that this is the first student body of a military college to be equipped by the war department with the helmets.

The review lasted about thirty minutes and immediately following it the governor and adjutant general took part in a military ceremony of awarding trophies and medals to winning organizations and individuals as a result of recent competitions. And General Barton awarded commissions to the seniors who have been accepted into the reserve corps of the United States army. The distinguished party then went to the home of President Bizzell and rested until 5 o'clock when they again appeared on the drill field in the president's car to witness the exhibition drill of the Ross Volunteers Company, of crack military men selected for exceptional efficiency from the senior class.

SHOWN IN BRYAN THE COLLIN COUNTY MOVIE IS PRAISED

(McKinney Courier-Gazette)

The secretary of the Collin County Puredbred Livestock Association is in receipt of a letter from C. L. Beason, secretary of the Brazos County Puredbred Livestock Association commenting on the recent showing "The Golden Puredbred Age of Collin County," recently at A. & M. College and to the farmers of Brazos County. The picture had been shown twice at Bryan with marked success and now he writes that since that time the picture had had three more successful showings, one before the high school class in vocational agriculture, once before a farmer audience of three hundred and again to one of the best farm clubs in Brazos county, making five showings the picture had had there. So impressed were the teachers that the suggestion has been made at Bryan that an extra copy of the picture be made and that it be shown to the ninety vocational schools of Texas.

This matter will be acted upon by the Collin County Puredbred Livestock Association, the organization which spent fifteen hundred dollars for the making of this four thousand-foot movie which shows the livestock and farming industry of Collin county at its best, containing more than two hundred different scenes on more than thirty farms in the county. The picture is giving Collin county invaluable advertising. It will be in charge of A. L. Ward, Secretary of the Texas Swine Breeders' Association who will show it over Texas to promote interest in purebreds and to show the advantage of organization.

TWO RIVERS OIL COMPANY WILL DRILL NEAR WIXON LAKE

The Two Rivers Oil Company of Brazos County has been incorporated for $250,000 under the laws of Texas. The company has under lease 50,000 acres of land in Brazos and adjoining counties for the purpose of making a thorough test of the oil situation in this section of Texas. The Two Rivers Oil Company has a drilling outfit ready to go to work in the next few days and the first test will be made at Wixon Lake. The company in securing tracts is giving a share in the company for every acre of land leased to them, hence it is of interest to the people to have this company succeed. A limited amount of stock has been reserved to sell to the people of Bryan and Brazos County, so that in the event oil is discovered the home people will have an interest in it. The major part of the stock is in the hands of an eastern company that will sell the bulk of it in the north and east. J. W. Batts and George Griffin will sell stock to any one who desires to purchase. Dr. J. N. Goodwin, president of the Two River Oil Company, will be glad to discuss the matter with anyone interested in his office rooms No. 30 and 31 in the Astin building.

FARM BUREAU SPEAKER IN BRAZOS COUNTY

Mr. F. W. Chudej, of Bell county, working in the interest of the Texas Farm Bureau, delivered a most convincing address to the farmers of the Smetana community Monday night.

Notwithstanding the propaganda which had been spread previous to Mr. Chudej's coming and the efforts put forth to dissuade the farmers from taking any part in the Farm Bureau work, immediately after the speech ninety percent of the farmers present, among them leading farmers of the county, readily walked up and signed the Cotton Marketing Contract.

Mr. Chudej is not only a forceful speaker, but has a pleasing personality backed up with a store of ready information, much of which was gained in his travels round the world under Rear Admiral Mayo. He leaves today for Austin county, but will return later to fill the following speaking dates in Brazos county:

Wheelock Bohemian Hall, June 6, 3:30 p. m.; Kurten German Hall, June 7, 8:30 p. m.; Shiloh Bohemian hall, June 8, 8:30 p. m.; Bryan, Court House, June 9, 8:30 p. m. Addresses will be made in both English and Bohemian.

The Brazos County district court is busy with the criminal docket, beginning last Monday, Judge W. C. Davis presiding. In the case of Guy Barrow, charged with selling whiskey, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. Eli Baker, who was charged with having liquor in his possession was given a three year sentence in the penitentiary and a suspended sentence was granted.

The case of Jack Johnson involving the same transaction of the Baker case is now on trial. All the defendants are colored citizens.

Sheriff Morehead is busy on the negro killing at Allen Farm Monday night and hopes soon to make the arrest of the guilty parties.

SPECIAL TRAIN HOME FOR A. & M. STUDENTS

(Special to the Eagle)
Waco, Tex., May 25.—A special train on the H. and T. C. railroad, bearing students who have been attending A. & M. College reached Waco yesterday evening shortly before 7 o'clock, and young men from all over this section were seen on the streets for a while. As the night trains came in, however, the crowd of students gradually diminished, and probably there are not very many left this morning. Waco was made a distributing point, as it were, and the students went in every direction from here.

NEGRO KILLING NEAR ALLEN FARM

In a difficulty at a festival near Allen farm Monday night negro man was killed, his brains being battered out with a blunt stick of wood, the slayer being still at large. Officers went to the scene of the difficulty as soon as possible but the culprit had several hours lead in which to evade them. The billet used in the homicide was brought by the officers to Bryan and bears clotted and eloquent evidence as to the ferocious intent of the party wielding it in the affray. It has so far been impossible to learn the names of the parties involved, and very meagre knowledge is obtainable of the incidents leading up to the fracas, though it is rumored the two racy Lotharios were enamored of the same dusky damsel.

DISTINGUISHED PYTHIAN VISITOR IN BRYAN

Editor O. P. Gresham, of the Texas Banner-Pythian Knight, published at Temple is in Bryan in the interest of that great fraternal publication. Since the war the Knights of Pythias order is growing throughout the Nation at a rapid rate. Especially is it increasing in Bryan and Navasota and has made wonderful strides in the past year. During the past year the Bryan Lodge has been officially visited by Gov. Pat M. Neff and Congressman Tom Connally, who are Past Grand Chancellors of Texas. Editor Gresham was fraternal advisor at the Eagle while here and it is a pleasure to again meet the "boys of yesterday" who were slender and wore knee breeches and now find them fat and weighing 250 pounds and still growing in mind, heart and usefulness. Pink come again, and in the words of old Joe Jefferson in Rip Van Winkle: "May you live long and prosper."

Chicago seems to be a modern "Sodom and Gomorrhah." There are more criminals to the square acre in Chicago than any place on the Western Continent. It would take more than a shower of fire and brimstone to purify Chicago.
